We are also pleased to be able to inform you of our forthcoming productions at the Manifest Theatre in 2016.

OUR NEXT PRODUCTION

The Manifest theatre group are now well into rehearsals for an intriguing "thriller" Accolade, written and set in the fifties. The play is being directed by Kate Sheffield.

The storyline could as well apply to the present day. When the personal life of someone who has achieved celebrity status becomes public. A lie told, a careless moment witnessed by a third party, causes far reaching repercussions. When this happens to a successful, well known personality the consequences can be life changing for both the celebrity, family and friends as public opinions reverse.

This is a well written, tense play by Emyln Williams, one of the foremost playwrights of the mid twentieth century.

Performances: Tuesday 5th to Saturday 9th April at 7.30pm.

A FAMILY MUSICAL FOR OCTOBER

During half term week, from the 25th to the 29th October, we will be staging James Leisy's Scrooge. Based on Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol. The rebirth of Scrooge through the discovery of the child in himself is Dickens' central theme. Leisy focuses on this theme from the outset, and fashions all of the elements of the musical play around it, while maintaining Dickens' spirit of playful exaggeration and goodwill toward his audience. Better than life, rather than true to life, it is written with a tone of playful exaggeration.
